J. EMORY BAIR TAKEN BY DEATH

Was Cashier of the Gettysburg National Bank for Forty Years. Prominently Identified with the Town's Interests.

J. Emory Bair, for many years cashier of Gettysburg's most influential citizens, died on Wednesday morning at nine o'clock after an illness of long duration. He was aged 69 years, 1 month and 19 days.

Mr. Bair had been failing since 1905 when he was compelled by ill health to give up his duties as cashier of the Gettysburg National Bank, with which institution he had been actively connected for a period of forty years. About a year ago his condition was made more critical by a stroke of paralysis and he gradually became weaker until about two weeks ago when the decline became very rapid and the end followed on Wednesday.

John Emory Bair was born in Hanover on January 15, 1845, a son of Edward and Delilah L. (Gitt) Bair. He was one of three children, his sister, Mrs. Jacob Slagle, having died about three years ago while one brother, G. Milan Bair, is now in Hanover in the insurance and real estate business.

Before coming to Gettysburg Mr. Bair was connected with the Hanover Saving Fund Society and on February 19, 1867 was appointed teller of the Gettysburg National Bank to succeed John H. McClellan. On May 1st, 1867, he was appointed cashier of that bank, succeeding T. D. Carson. In this capacity he served until January 1st, 1906, on which date, by reason of impaired health, he retired.

On November 21st, 1872, he married Miss Mary C. Kohler, daughter of Jesse and Rachel Kohler, of Hanover, who alone survives him.

Mr. Bair was always interested in everything pertaining to the progress and welfare of Gettysburg. He was keenly alive to everything that would promote the prosperity of the town and for many years was connected with the Gettysburg Knitting Company, the Gettysburg Canning Company and the Land Improvement Company. He was also a member of the Board of Trustees of Gettysburg College for a number of years.

He was one of the original anti-secret societies and organizers of the Washington Lone and Trust Company, a leading financial institution of the District of Columbia.

Mr. Bair was a veteran of the Civil War, having served in Captain E. B. Tanner's Independent Cavalry, and he belonged to Corporal Skelly Post, U. S. Grand Army of the Republic. He was a member of Gettysburg Lodge No. 304 Benevolent and Protective Order of Elks and was a member of the Order of College Luthern Church.

The funeral arrangements have not been completed. Burial will be made on the family lot in Hanover. Further notice will be given.

TOWN COUNCIL'S MARCH MEETING

Curb Market and New Automobile Fire Engine Bot Consideration of the Hands of Council. Favorable Report on the Market.

The special committee of Council, Messrs. Keith, Trostle and Butt, recommended as follows on the fire apparatus matter:

"That the borough of Gettysburg purchase a LaFrance combination gasoline, motor driven pump and chemical apparatus at a price of $7500, of which $2000 is now to be paid out of borough funds and the remaining fifty per cent. to be assumed and paid by the Gettysburg Electric Railway Company out of proceeds of public subscriptions taken for that purpose." The report was also signed by C. E. McClellan, F. B. Slonaker, Henry Stewart and W. B. Fleming, members of the Company Committee, and by J. C. Wetmore, Fire Chief.

The report was received and the committee discharged, after which the committee was appointed and were authorized to confer with a citizens' committee concerning the purchase of apparatus. Council accordingly took no definite action on the purchase of the engine, but will go into the matter more thoroughly, probably at the meeting. Acting on the citizens' committee, was present Tuesday night and left a proof for a special committee from Council.

Curb Market.

Mr. Keith, Chairman of the ordinance committee, submitted an unfavorable report on the curb market ordinances. The committee was convinced in the report of the market committee's work and from the conference with the truckers reported in favor of the market, but was not covering all the objections thoroughly. Striking sentences from the report are as follows:

"If the ordinance committee is to be blamed for anything in the report given in the recommendations of the market committee, it is in assuming that the reasons stated are entirely sufficient to justify the town council in establishing a curb and open market."

"The land management of the market can and ought to be corrected."

"Bad management of the market prices can likewise be corrected."

"The inconvenience and annoyance caused by truckers scattering orders in advance of market days or hours, should be permitted to exist. It is the strongest reason advanced by the market committee against the curb market. But this evil is also most entirely upon and the direct result of the management, and can be readily corrected."

"We can find no justification in the market committee basing its recommendation on the assumption that the truckers desire the discontinuance of the market and prefer the less valuable time in peddling their unsold goods after market hours, and being driven to seek other open spaces in the week. These reasons are inconsistent with the facts as above given. The purpose in establishing the market was to secure the convenience of the citizens of Gettysburg, not the convenience of the market man. One of the purposes of the curb market is peddling of the produce from door to door, causing the least annoyance and trouble to citizens who did not desire to be disturbed at all."

"A careful examination of the present market ordinances has failed to convince us that any change in regard to desire or amendment and it is therefore recommended that the present market ordinances be permitted to stand as they are now written."

"The representatives of the truckers stated to the committee that a large majority of the truckers were unwilling to bring their produce to Gettysburg if they were required to peddle it from door to door in order to dispose of it. They also stated that they were unwilling to pay for the market if the peddling of produce was permitted during market hours."

The report was signed by John D. Keith, chairman of the committee. One member, Ambrose Bushman, owing to serious illness, was not conscious to the report and recommendations.

George E. Stock, the third member of the committee, did not concur in the recommendations made in the report, feeling that the present ordinances should be so amended as to permit peddling of produce at all times, even during market hours.

Discussion of the report was postponed to the next meeting of council on April 7th.

Other Matters.

Lots were drawn to determine which of the six councilmen elected in November should serve for the two year term and O. G. Baughman was drawn for the short period. The other five will serve the full four years.

On petition of eight residents of the North End of town presented by Charles E. Stahle, Esq., a fire plug was ordered placed on Broadway.

The property committee reported having favorable to allowing the land the use of council chamber on the first Saturday in each month for practice. A vote of thanks was given the company for the offer of the use for meeting purposes.

PEACH CROP HURT

Blizzard Causes Great Loss in Peach Belt.

It is estimated that the intense cold wave of the past week will result in the loss of one-half of the peach crop of Waynesboro. An investigation on Monday showed 15 to 18 per cent of the buds have been ruined. As a result orchardists situated at an altitude of 750 feet above sea level are immune from the effects of the cold, but the orchards at the foot of the mountain has extended even to those in many instances.

The peach crop has been the chief software, apples and cherries having been but slightly injured. In the lower corner, whose orchard is situated at an altitude of 600 feet above sea level, reports that about 19 per cent of the buds are destroyed. At the J. A. Mcodemus orchard located near Zullinger, and situated 750 feet above sea level, the buds have escaped the Summer orchard at Quincy little damage. The fruit at the Mountain Rock owns an orchard at Tomstown, located 1000 feet above sea level, escaped also slightly hit. At the B. V. Mono orchard east of Quincy, 850 and 1000 peach trees are affected.

Heathens.

This word originally meant those who lived on the heaths, or in the country. It acquired its present meaning because of the fact that at the time of the introduction of Christianity in Germany and Sweden it was those were those who were most strenuously opposed to the new religion.

RAILROAD HAS NEW PRESIDENT

Fitzgerald Resigns as Head of the Western Maryland. Reasons to Change Said to be Unsatisfactory Earnings.

The resignation of John M. Fitzgerald as president of the Western Maryland Railroad Company was accepted at a special meeting of the board of directors of the company in New York Friday afternoon.

Carl R. Gray, president of the Great Northern Railroad, was elected Mr. Fitzgerald's successor. Mr. Gray had previously signified his intention to resign, and will take up his duties as soon as his resignation from the Great Northern is accepted. This is expected to be about 10 days hence. In the meanwhile Mr. Fitzgerald will continue as president.

While no official confirmation can be obtained, it is said that Mr. Fitzgerald will be retained by the road in an official capacity, probably to supervise the carrying out of the plans for terminal development in Baltimore.

While no official statement regarding the reasons for the resignation was forthcoming it is generally understood that the change in the presidency is due solely to the fact that the Western Maryland has not been doing a business recently proportionate to the great outlays of extensions and improvements made by the road during the past few years, including extensive terminal improvements, the Connellsville extension, the double tracking of various sections and new grading involved the spending of millions of dollars. Better terminal facilities have also been provided recently all along the line, and ambitious plans have been announced for the future. It has been an open secret in Baltimore that Mr. Fitzgerald became a business of the road has come, but that the increased earnings have not expended for extensions and improvements.

The question of a change in the management of the road, it is said, came up at the meeting of directors in the absence of Mr. Fitzgerald, who was in the city, and Mr. Gray, who is a railroad, expressing the controlling interest in the road. It was said after the Rockefeller-Gould deal he had expressed himself as dissatisfied with conditions as they then existed. Since then the rumors of a change in the official management have been current.

NEAR FATHER CORBY

Relic of War Preserved at University of Notre Dame.

The sword of General Thomas Francis Meagher, commander of the Irish Brigade in the Civil War, was on Wednesday presented to the University of Notre Dame to rest near the body of Father Corby, the chaplain, who gave final absolution to the soldiers of the brigade on the battlefield of Gettysburg. Father Corby's monument stands on Notre Dame.

W. Bourke Cockran, of New York, who was a member of the staff of the significance that attaches to Meagher's sword—of the general's ancestors by his bought for the sword in Ireland, his government, owing largely to a misunderstanding of the circumstances of the Young Ireland revolution-ary movement. Meagher had "defended and stigmatize the sword" and had given as a reason the famous passage he penning:

"At its blow a great nation started from its waters of the Atlantic."

Dr. H. W. McKnight, of Carlisle street, was taken to Dr. Kelly's Private Hospital, Baltimore, this morning by Dr. H. M. Hertzan for treatment.

APPROVE ARCH OVER AVENUE

Massachusetts Memorial Commission Secures Approval of Plan to Place Arch over Nesconeh Avenue at Taneytown Road.

The approval of the National Park Commission and the Secretary of War has been secured to the plan which provides for the erection of a massive and enduring masonry, so that it will always be beyond the necessity of repairs. Approximately, it will be forty-two feet wide, sixteen feet deep and fifty feet high. The archway piercing it, through which Nesconeh avenue passes, is about eighteen feet wide and thirty-one feet high. Stairways of concrete will lead first, to a storeroom or chamber above the arch, where will be preserved such records as may be desirable, and second to a lookout covering the entire top of the arch. It is intended that in the parapet surrounding this outlook crowns will be set with proper lettering, pointing the directions to the different portions of the battlefield.

"The arch should be built exclusively of Massachusetts materials, either granite or marble, preferably the former for the exterior, as may be determined upon.

"It is intended to reduce the number of statues and ornament to the lowest terms, depending upon the mass and design for effect. Appropriate inscriptions of the Massachusetts organizations which participated in the battle, will be provided. On the upper portion of the arch it is intended to place, on one front, the arms of the Commonwealth, below, at the keystone of the arch, the American eagle, and on the other front of the arch having practically two fronts) under the arms of the United States or the single word, "Massachusetts," as may be decided upon and below the keystone, the figure of Freedom from the State arms.

"The Commission has selected approximate estimates of the cost of the work and believes that it can be constructed in substantial accordance with the sketches submitted, for $42,-000. To that should be added the architect's commissions at ten per cent, amounting to $4,200, and necessary expenses of the Commission amounting to $800.

"The Commission recommends an appropriation not to exceed $50,000 for construction and engineering, and $5,000 for the services of the supervising architect, also that a commission be created to have charge of the work and to expend the moneys authorized in the bonanza, with full power."

GUARD MANEUVERS

Adjutant General Thomas J. Stewart and the War Department officials on the selection of troops from this home to participate in the annual maneuvers of the army and National Guard.

Adjutant General Stewart Friday he said that he could not tell what brigade or auxiliary troops would be sent or when the maneuvers would be held. It is rumored that the First, Second, Third, Fourth, Sixth and Eighth Regiments and the two squadrons of cavalry would be selected. While it is almost certain that there will be no regular maneuver camp here for the coming year at least Gettysburg people are generally interested in guard affairs as the battle is the scene of their long association with the town.

FRANKLIN COUNTY WITHOUT SALOON

No Decision Having Been Rendered in Applications for Licenses, Bars are Closed. May be "Dry" Sometime.

Chambersburg, Waynesboro as well as all Franklin county, will have an opportunity to see the working of a "dry" county for several days and possibly a week or more. This unique condition is the result of remonstrances filed against every applicant for a license by the W. C. T. U. and other anti-saloon organizations of that county and the fact that the court has not yet rendered a decision.

The saloon licenses expired on March 1. Last week applications were made for saloons throughout the county and protests filed against every one. The cases were heard before Judge Gillan in the Court at Chambersburg and by reason of the mass of evidence and the many cases, the court took each case under consideration and is not expected to render his decision before the latter part of the present week. Therefore the doors of every saloon and place selling intoxicating liquors were closed Saturday night and will remain closed until a license has been granted.

A vigorous fight has been waged by the saloon advocates and the anti-saloon people in the matter of granting licenses. For several days witness after witness testified in the court at Chambersburg both for and against various saloons. The cases presented considerable evidence and after hearing all the testimony, Judge Gillan declared that he would not render a decision for some time as the cases merited careful and just consideration and in order to do his duty it would be necessary to make a careful study of each case.

While it is believed that when the opinion is rendered a number of saloons will be granted licenses yet it is also thought that many of the places will be refused the right to sell intoxicants. The anti-saloon people say that with the closing of the bars for a week the citizens will be able to work and will find that the county are prosper even more than at present without the saloons. The saloon men state on the other hand that the citizens after a "dry" week will be glad enough to get back their saloons.

FREIGHT TRAIN DERAILED

Twelve Cars of Western Maryland Leave Track at Maria Furnace.

Twelve cars and an engine of a Western Maryland freight train were derailed Tuesday morning, at the trestle near a curve known as the "horse shoe" at Maria Furnace. The wreck is supposed to have been caused by spreading rails. It occurred about seven o'clock and prevented the passage of freight and passenger trains during the greater part of the day. None of the trainmen were injured and the only exception to four cars that rolled to the bottom of the embankment were damaged beyond repair, the train was able to proceed before night. Both ends of the wash bound passenger trains transferred their passengers at the scene of the wreck.

Plans Pushing as Ancient Dish.

The exact origin of the English plum pudding is so obscure it is difficult to obtain any information other than an occasional note in records covering the early part of the eighteenth century. It is supposed to have been in use for years before that but the first mention of pudding made from flour and eggs is found under the date of 1714.

EAGLE HOTEL IS NOW CLOSED

Only Bid Received at Administrator's Sale is One Heller. Hotel will Remain Closed Until Disposition Can be made of Leasehold.

For the first time in many years the Eagle Hotel is closed for a period. This famous hostelry was closed Monday when all guests were given notice to vacate their apartments and the help, with the exception of the watchman and fireman, was discharged. According to advice of the administrator, W. Wilson Heyer, Esq., this action was necessary because there are no funds on hand to meet current expenses.

At the administrator's sale on Saturday, the hotel property was offered for sale until November 1st, 1923 and is at present held by the estate of Richard Ham, had but one bidder, which bid was one dollar. J. Donald Swope, attorney for the owner of the building, Frank Eberhart, was the only person to make an offer. This was probably due to the extensive improvements there is a small stock of provisions and liquors on hand, and the hotel has a large rental, part payment of which has been deferred since last fall, and winter months, will be due for the approaching season when there is no income except from the hotel and restaurant revenue. Neil McConnny, one of the former proprietors, was in attendance at the time the property was offered for sale and stated that he was prepared to pay $2000 for the leasehold and fixtures but he did not bid. He later made the statement that he was prepared to buy the property at a reasonable price. The administrator will now endeavor to dispose of the leasehold and the hotel be unsuccessful in this effort the hotel will be closed for the winter season. The hotel will remain closed until some adjustment is made.

The Eagle Hotel is a famous one among the travelling men of the country. It is conducted in the summer. In the winter season it is conducted and is owned by Mr. Hem assuming sole proprietorship until the time of his sickness in December, when that trust has been under the administrator, appointed by the court.

Kuhlman, of Gettysburg; Rev. H. C. Hellman, of St. Matthew's Lutheran church, and Rev. Dr. Harry Ziegler, pastor, Rev. C. W. Baker. Rev. Miesly preached the re-dedication sermon. After which the total amount raised to the cost of the improvements, was ascertained by the congregation before the church is now wholly out of debt.

The new addition to the church is 24 feet by 28 feet and will be used exclusively as a primary Sunday school.

FIERCE BLIZZARD VISITS COUNTY

Wind Attaining Terrible Velocity Drifts Snow. Barns and Telegraph Lines Damaged. Boyd's School Loosed one Side and Roof.

A blizzard such as is seldom seen this time of the year held the county in its grip during all of Sunday night and did not abate until the day was well advanced. The wind, at times, reached the velocity nearly sixty miles and eighty miles an hour. Most people were kept indoor and teams as well during the storm, as it was impossible to battle against it.

The Western Union telegraph wires were down west of Gettysburg, although the lines were in service from that point. The telephone lines received many damages. A number farmers throughout the county suffered. The wind blowing damaged their buildings. The most serious losses learned of so far were: roof blown from the stable on the Jacob Bream farm, about one and one-half miles west of Gettysburg; roof and part of the gable end blown from the Emory Hall barn, situated along Marsh creek; and the one end of the Boyd's school house was blown off with the roof, known as Boyd's school, on the Biglerville road in Cumberland township.

Several of the rural carriers were only able to get their mail routes from town and returned without making deliveries, owing to the deep snow drifts. It is thought that the snow, which drifted continuously during the night and Sunday, will delay the rural carriers from serving all their patrons.

An Irish Rebel

A Story For St. Patrick's Day

By NORA McGUIRK

It was in 1798 that the last attempt of any importance was made to free Ireland by violence. Three revolutions have always been the work of the Irish race, namely, the ancient saga where in inward ecstasy in the province of Ulster, was spent by the people who are Protestants. So ireland from the beginning of the world to the end of the position she is now with reference to the world. Ulster against the rest of the island.

One of the most earnest rebels in the United Irishmen was Michael Dwyer, a young fellow, who, like many another Irishman, was named after St. Patrick, who introduced Christianity into Ireland.

After the Irish revolt of 1798 Pat Dwyer, who had been active in the treason that all his levantive powers, assisted by those of his friends, were not sufficient to keep him from indictment and trial, and he was sentenced to be hanged by the neck until he was dead. But Pat Dwyer, with a few thick cap he seized the condemned man by the long curls in such a way that the piece of death should not be passed by.

"Divil a word, your honor!" said Pat, a small proportion of which is the Judge, "save I to say why sentence of death should not be passed upon me, for I'm the worst rebel in Ireland, but I have yet to tell you that I'm the best rebel. I have the honor to bear the name of Patrick, the same as your honor. This year St. Patrick's day comes on Friday, and I'm the only one who should be hanged on that day."

The following two weeks were a period of suspense to Pat's friends, for everybody is know counting to the jail for the day of the execution. Many plans were instead of acting like a man waiting for death, Pat Dwyer seemed to become more and more reserve the following. He never drew his sword from the scabbard that he grew. Wives said by his friends that he was "losing his mind." It said that he was soured for St. Patrick's day and drive a bit would the Irish of his friends to the jail.

His faith affected his friends to such a degree that they were trying to get a pardon for him. But Pat had made the governor and the Parliament not only in times of open rebellion but also in times of peace. Nothing availed to get rid of him. So Pat's friends gave up the struggle and left Pat to his fate. Of them, a cobbler, named together with a number of his friends, went to a hack at the neck of the sack. Another friend of Pat's had died a natural death, while a third the night before the execution got so drunk that he could not be aroused. So he appointed a deputy, and that deputy was a friend of Pat's named Dennis.

Pat was brought out to be hanged he made a bow to the crowd and asked if he might be allowed to say "Good morning to you. it give me pleasure to be hanged on St. Patrick's on this blessed morning." He was led to the foot of the gallows, and after the instructions he had received, obeyed them to the letter. Of course, it was not safe, being too light and Dennis had to pull down hard. So another rope was produced, and the cobbler, who had a sack, put it over the noose over Pat's head contrived to stretch the sack to the back of the neck.

The ropes were those present who if they had perceived what was going on would have put a stop to it, and although Pat might have been saved for the time being, he would have been strung up in earnest without any further delay. Dennis pulled and it was not till the cart struck a wood pile that Pat's neck was broken by the receptacle. He was then given a decent burial, and a number of his friends collected for him and told in order for the Irish people to keep his memory alive for America. Pat bade them all farewell, and his last request was that he should on a ship about to sail for Pittsburgh.

Pat found the United States recently revolted colonies of England, and there were as many intrinsic defects in Ireland. So he was much pleased with his surroundings and spent the first few years in the new land in trying to organize an imitation of Ireland of its friends with a view to bringing her to an independence similar to that gained by his former country. Finally he settled down and became an American citizen.

FAILED IN HER HUNGER STRIKE

Nellie Cross Adopts the Methods of the English Suffragette in Adams County Jail. Fasts for a Week then Gives up. Other Jail News.

During the hunger strike method to secure her release from the Adams County Jail Nellie Cross, colored, gave up after a week's fast. She was released from all food, and then, finding her tactics of no avail, she at last consented to partake of the food which Sheriff Thompson supplies three times daily.

The woman, a frequent offender, is just now a swelting trial on a charge of disorderly conduct. She was arrested by Detective Wilson and Chief Sneeroe who are alleged to have found her with a bag of coal she had secured on the Round Top siding. Soon after her incarceration in the County Jail she announced that she would go on a hunger strike.

"I was in prison once before", she said, "and I wouldn't eat. They carried me out after some days and I'll try the same thing here."

Where the other jail was is not known. The Cross woman at once proceeded to put her threat into execution. For one week she kept the nourishment she took was one meal. She drank cold water and ate the food she placed before her she absolutely refused. On the finish of the week fasting, she found that her strike was doing nothing toward securing her release and she decided to abandon the plan, eat heartily and make her stay in the county prison as short and as be as comfortable as possible. Her children have been committed to the County Home.

Apparently she suffered but little from her long fast.

David Sourbeer, sentenced at August term of court to one month imprisonment in the county jail for a period of nine months, has developed unsuitable habits in the county jail, and will likely be taken to the County Home in the near future.

The other prisoners are keeping a close watch on him to keep him from doing any harm to himself. He tells frequently in a decidedly irrational way of things that he may be well taken care of, he will be put in his proper place.

Sourbeer was arrested last summer for assault on the yard at the Zinncast home and frightening Mrs. Zinn. The charge against him was assault and battery. He was also charged with the former he pleaded drunkenness and said that he did not know what he was doing.

FOR BIG HOLE

Talk of Tunnel through the Blue Ridge is Revived.

The election of Carl B. Gray to the presidency of the Western Maryland railroad and chairmanship of its executive board may be followed by the tunneling of South Mountain, as per plans for some years past contemplated, and which were said to have met the approval of John D. Rockefeller, Sr., when he passed through this region last fall.

The Baltimore Sun has the following along the same line:

"Many of the opinion that Mr. Gray will first devote his efforts to having a double track, low-grade line constructed over the Blue Ridge. This will make the tunneling of the mountain a necessity, and it is thought this project, which was drawn to the attention of John D. Rockefeller, Sr., on his recent inspection trip, will be among the first of the big moves made after the new executive has become well settled in the saddle."

Wolf, Miss Nellie Free, Miss Elsie Sullivan and Miss Edith Craig, four graduate nurses of the York Hospital, to come before to the alleged unsavory conditions at the institution in the recent investigation of the hospital by a committee of the Woman's Club, of York, that they be make satisfactory explanation of their disloyalty to the institution on or before March 14 they will no longer be permitted to nurse patients there or be accorded any of the privileges heretofore enjoyed by registered nurses at the hospital.

It is further stated that similar notices have been sent to Drs. E. W. Ritzenhaler, Jr., Charles E. Bee and J. H. Bennett, physicians of the hospital staff.
